Zidane maintains stunning Camp Nou record as Real Madrid beat Barcelona in El Clasico

Barcelona

Real Madrid averted a crisis in the best possible way on Saturday by beating Barcelona 3-1 in the first empty Clasico, landing an early blow in La Liga's title race.

Barca had the chance to inflict a third consecutive defeat on their rivals and increase the pressure on Zinedine Zidane.

Instead, Madrid's win earns them a six-point lead over the Catalans, having played one game more.

Sergio Ramos' penalty and a late Luka Modric goal finished off Barcelona after Federico Valverde and Ansu Fati had traded early strikes in a frantic game that defied those expecting further evidence of two heavyweights in decline.

Barcelona might feel hard done by, especially as Ramos' penalty was awarded after a check by VAR and a hugely exaggerated fall by Madrid's captain after Clement Lenglet tugged his shirt.

But aside from an impressive spell in the first half, when an inspired Lionel Messi threatened to win the game on his own, Madrid were dominant for longer spells and pulled away when it mattered.

This was Ronald Koeman's first Clasico as Barcelona coach and some of the pressure Zidane would have felt from a loss is now transferred to the Dutchman, who has overseen only three wins from his first six games in charge.

League, without the suspended Gerard Pique.

Every Barca set-back is now seen through the lens of Messi's future too. The Argentinian, who failed in his attempt to leave last summer, has still to score from open play this season.

Mundo Deportivo had declared the match "The least Clasico of Clasicos" on its front page on Saturday morning.

The coronavirus pandemic meant the biggest football stadium in Europe was silent for the game that La Liga president Javier Tebas had claimed is "still the biggest football match in the world".

In the previous week, Real Madrid had lost to Shakhtar Donetsk and newly promoted Cadiz, while Barcelona were beaten by Getafe last weekend.

Yet a dip in quality does not have to mean a drop in drama and any doubts about the thrill of this fixture were answered in eight minutes, as both teams had scored.

Madrid made the start they dreamed of when Karim Benzema drifted deep into the right channel and was allowed to turn, with the sprinting Valverde going beyond him.

Valverde pierced the gap before lifting a curved shot past Neto and into the far corner.

Madrid celebrated as if their confidence had been reborn, but within three minutes, Barcelona were level.

Messi, from almost left-back, chipped a ball over the top freeing Jordi Alba who fired into the front post where Fati had nipped ahead of Ramos and turned in.

Fati youngest El Clasico scorer in last 20 years

BARCELONA: Barcelona's Ansu Fati on Saturday became the youngest El Clasico goal-scorer in the 21st century. Fati, who is just 17 years and 359 days old, registered the opening goal for Barcelona against Real Madrid in the eighth minute of the match. Earlier, the youngest El Clasico goal-scorer in the 21st century belonged to Vinicius Jr.

It was fast and open for the rest of the half, with Messi enjoying a golden spell. He glided past Casemiro and then swerved around Ramos, but onto his right foot, the finish stabbed into Thibaut Courtois at the near post.

Benzema should have scored too. Madrid finished the stronger before half-time but Barca were better after: Fati flashed just wide and Philippe Coutinho missed a free header at the back post.

Their momentum was checked by Lenglet's error; a tug in the box clear enough that Ramos' shirt was stretched, even if the fall was comically exaggerated. Referee Juan Martinez checked the monitor Ramos found the corner.

Barca wanted a penalty themselves when Ramos booted a ball into team-mate Raphael Varane's arm, but this time there was no whistle.

Ramos and Valverde both could have made it three in the final minutes before substitute Modric did, finishing beautifully after Neto rushed out.

IOC's Bach to skip Seoul ceremony

SEOUL: The International Olympic Committee President Thomas Bach has decided against traveling to South Korea to accept a peace prize in person because of concerns about the coronavirus pandemic. The new plan is to hold the ceremony with Bach participating remotely, officials told The Associated Press on Saturday. "Because of the deteriorating situation in Europe, which makes traveling even more difficult, the IOC president, together with the IOC and the Seoul Peace Prize Cultural Foundation, has decided that his participation in the award ceremony on Monday would be virtual," the IOC said in a statement to The AP.

Portuguese GP: Hamilton pips Bottas

LISBON: Lewis Hamilton on Saturday beat his Mercedes team mate Valtteri Bottas by 0.1 seconds to take his 97th pole position in the qualifiers ahead of the Portuguese Grand Prix at the Algarve International Circuit. Hamilton was second best to Bottas in all three practice sessions and the first two segments of qualifying. Bottas took one flying lap during the final run while Hamilton opted for two. City drops more points with 1-1 draw LONDON: Manchester City is enduring its worst start to a Premier League season in six years after being held 1-1 by West Ham on Saturday. Pep Guardiola's side needed substitute Phil Foden's second-half strike, after bringing down Joao Cancelo's cross on the turn, to rescue a point. Fresh from grabbing a draw at Tottenham on Sunday, West Ham took the lead through Michail Antonio's overhead kick in the 18th minute. With both sides on eight points after five games, West Ham is above City on goal difference.

Newly-appointed East Bengal head coach Robbie Fowler on Saturday said his team will play an exciting brand of football, relying on ball possession and short intricate passes, during the Indian Super League which begins on November 20.

The Kolkata giants, who will compete in the ISL from this season, appointed Fowler for a two-year tenure earlier this month. The ISL will be played in three venues in Goa in view of COVID-19 pandemic.

"We will play the right way. For me, the right way is playing with the ball at your feet, short sharp intricate passes, get the players moving and helping each other and not just pass it long ball for the sake of it," Fowler said in an Instagram live session.

"We will play the right way. For me, the right way is playing with the ball at your feet, short sharp intricate passes, get the players moving and helping each other and not just pass it long ball for the sake of it," Fowler said in an Instagram live session.

"We won't be playing long balls, we want to hold on to possession. Possession on the right side of pitch, not just knocking it around in the back. We want to play in the opposite half, exciting football and win games. The best way is putting opposition in the backfoot," he added.

The upcoming season of the ISL, like several other sports events, will take place behind closed doors in empty stadiums.

"We can't do anything but there will be time in the near future when we will be playing with lost of passionate fans. I would like nothing more than to travel to Kolkata and play with a successful team next year," said the Liverpool legend.

"That day will come but right now we need to do what we need to do. It's not easy but it's something we have to adapt and accept." With a late inclusion to ISL, East Bengal appointed the 45-year-old with less than two months left for the scheduled start of the tournament and Fowler feels the team will have to play catch up.

"It's a new challenge for us, we will go into this season and we will be competitive. What we have to keep in mind is that we have been many many weeks behind the other teams.
